DETAILED ACTIONDrawings

The drawings are objected to because in the specification on page 7, lines 7-9 item 36 is described as the a major surface of the cover, but the drawings show a lead line pointing to the surface of the table. A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they do not include the following reference sign(s) mentioned in the description: 200A and 200B. A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the one additional spring positioned about the second minor arm between the table and rod must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

Art Unit: 3636

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Stubblefield.

The backrest 3 is repositionable (see page 2, col. 2, lines 114-120), and the member or bar is item 37.

Claims 5-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ferrelle ('811).

The means for biasing is item 46.

Claims 15 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Morss.

The cover is item F.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

Art Unit: 3636

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 7-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ferrelle ('811).

The patent to Ferrelle teaches a seat assembly including an arm 41 communicating with the table, wherein the arm travels in a slot 45 in the table, the arm has an opening receiving a rod (43) wherein the rod defines a pivot for the table substantially as claimed except for the spring being positioned "about" the arm 41; however, the spring of Ferrelle abuts the arm 41 biasing the table into the extended position in the same manner as the instant invention. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the Ferrelle device such that the spring were positioned about the arm instead of abutting it since that spring arrangement is well known in the art and would work equally as well. See the Kent ('395) reference for an example of a spring 32 positioned about an arm 31).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 11-14 are allowed.

Claims 17 and 18 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The prior art fails to teach, inter alia, a seat assembly comprising a stowable table connected to a backrest of the seat by a pair of arms, a rod connecting the pair of arms, first and second minor arms connecting the table to the rod and at least one spring positioned about the first minor arm between the table and the rod as specifically recited in the claims. The prior art also fails to teach a seat assembly comprising, inter alia, a cover as specifically recited in the claims, which spans the width of the backrest.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. McDonald, Ferrelle ('078), Roca, Muller, Macaluso, Brennan, D'Onofrio et al, and Wamhoff all teach devices similar to that of the instant invention.
